

Retrograde Charitable Toy & Video Game Museum (Mission Impupsable II)

Audio	Visual	Notes
Sad Music. Dude: Do you remember when Michael Keaton was Batman? No? Dude: How about when cartoons where a Saturday morning luxury? Dude: Everyday and everywhere you go, Nostalgia is being forgotten. But you can help. By going to Retrograde Charitable Toy and Videogame museum.	INT – Retrograde Guy thinks intently. He tries harder. Guy puts his hands to his warmed heart. Guy grows concerned Guy reaches for his phone.
Dude: At Retrograde, we remember what it feels like to stare into a screen and feel whole again. And not like we do with these empty blocks. Dude: Back in my day, nostalgia was great, you had tons of stuff to remember remembering about. And here, we just want that for you. To remember remembering to remember. Dude: Remember when remember sounded like a word? Dude: I miss that.	INT – Retrograde Dude sits on a couch. He pulls out a phone. He drops the phone. Dude sniffles and sobs. CUT TO:
Dude: And maybe you miss it too. And here at Retrograde that’s all we want for you, and everyone else. But especially you.	INT – Retrograde Dude has visibly cried. Dude Sniffles.

Dude: Just like a safe place to hangout, talk about cool stuff, y’know?
Guy: Did you know that you scientifically must experience nostalgia to stay alive? You see, nostalgi-eons feed your brain with nutrition like pylons, mana, and HP. All basic requirements for living. And all essential. Dude (O.S.): Not proven by real science. Guy: And there’s only one person that can save nostalgia now. You. And everyone else you know. But specifically, you.	INT – Retrograde Guy stands behind a desk. SUPER: Not proven by real science. Guy holds up one finger. He points it to the camera.
